A partnership between East Dunbartonshire Council and private sector landlords

A partnership between East Dunbartonshire Council and private sector landlords

Homelessness is an issue faced by many ordinary households all over Britain. The two main causes of homelessness in East Dunbartonshire are relationship breakdowns and relatives being unable to continue to accommodate.

During 2015/16 there were 427 households in East Dunbartonshire who were officially assessed as being 'homeless'. In many of these cases, East Dunbartonshire Council arranged temporary accommodation while they waited for an offer of permanent accommodation. The Council has a chronic shortage of housing stock and those in temporary accommodation can expect to wait for up to three years (in some areas) before suitable, permanent accommodation becomes available.

Legislation introduced by the Scottish Government limited the type of accommodation that we can use to house families with dependant children, thus increasing the difficulties that local authorities across the country have in re-housing homeless households. Similarly the Right to Buy legislation has reduced Council stock. Currently East Dunbartonshire Council's total stock amounts to approximately 3,500 properties.

Therefore owing to the high demand for temporary accommodation and the chronic shortage of local authority accommodation, East Dunbartonshire Council has established alternative accommodaton options.

A solution?

East Dunbartonshire Council will lease properties from private sector landlords and then sub-let to those who require temporary accommodation, until permanent accommodation can be found.

What can East Dunbartonshire Council offer a landlord?

- A three-year lease agreement with the possibility of extending.
- Guaranteed income for the period of the lease.
- All general maintenance and repairs are carried out.

What can a landlord offer East Dunbartonshire Council?

- Unfurnished 1 - 4 bedroom properties within the East Dunbartonshire boundary.

What next?

Landlords should contact the Council with details of the property they wish to offer. If it is in a suitable location, we will arrange for a survey inspection and Electrical Installation Condition Report (the cost of which to be met by the landlord) to be carried out. You would then need to provide the following paperwork:

- If there is a lender, confirmation that they are aware that the property is being let/sub-let.
- Buildings Insurance. The insurer must indicate that they are aware that the property is being let/sub-let.
- Gas Safety Certificate from a Gas Safe registered plumber.
All installations/appliances must comply with current Gas Safety (Installation & Use) Regulations 1996.
- A Central Heating Maintenance Contract with a Gas Safe registered or NICEIC/SELECT-approved firm (if gas central heating, this should include the annual Gas Safety Certificate).
- Details of who supplies the utilities
- Legionella Risk Assessment
- Energy Performance Certificate

The following health and safety measures will also need to be in place:

- Mains-wired smoke and heat detectors.
- Battery-operated carbon monoxide detectors.
- Window locks and child safety catches fitted to all windows.
- Properties to be unfurnished (except for floor, wall and window coverings and any integrated white/kitchen goods).

Once any required work has been carried out and all the correct paperwork is in place, a lease can be signed with our Legal Department. After that, general and tenancy maintenance becomes East Dunbartonshire Council's responsibility.
